FOREWORD

Because our home life and all the environmental factors about us have helped to shape our personality and outlook on life, we feel that our theme "Scenes Around Milford" is an appropriate one. It is very probable that after this year our class will disperse, only to move to distant parts. In looking at our yearbooks a long time from now, somehow seeing the faces of old friends, intermingled with the surroundings in which we knew them, will revive more vivid memories.

In a way, the changing seasons shown in these pictures are representative of our passing school years. As these seasons come around again, may we remember through them the season of our youth, our times at Milford High School.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

It is with mixed emotions that I bid farewell to the Class of 1963. There is sadness because you are leaving, pride in your many achievements, and hope; hope that in years to come as your high school experience fades in your memory, its deeper meaning will remain. I hope you will retain your fine spirit of curiosity, your respect for teachers and teaching, your desire for education, your easy camaraderie, and your "joie de vivre."

I hope that we will always remain friends, and that you will return to visit from time to time. Congratulations and God Bless You.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Nearly four years ago, we, the class of 1963, entered high school with only a vague idea of the experience we would encounter. Now, however, as we graduate, we can look back upon our high school years in perspective. In learning to face the problems we encountered here together, we have learned more about facing the uncertainties of life.

These years have been happy ones. Many people have helped us in our progress and growth. First, we would like to thank Mr. Herman, our principal, who has guided us with friendliness and understanding. To our teachers we owe our gratitude and appreciation for their untiring patience and encouragement. Their constancy and wisdom have guided us through these years; their confidence will spur us on in the future.

Our four years at Milford High School have been enriching ones with the fun of sports and good fellowship, the satisfaction of learning, and the benefits of our many extra-curricular activities—who will forget the success of the Junior Play or the Junior Prom?

At this time, most of us have mixed feelings. We are proud that we have successfully reached this milestone in our lives. We are sad that our departure has meant good-bye to our friends and teachers, but we are eager to go and meet the challenges of life.

We have gained much at Milford High, most particularly a solid foundation upon which to build the rest of our lives. As president, I would like to express my best wishes to the class of 1963, in the hope that we have successfully contributed our part in achievement and records to the history of Milford High School.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Sigma Psi, the Milford High chapter of National Honor Society, is more than merely an honorary group. Included in its goals are encouragement of scholarship and leadership among the student body and the rendering of service to the school. To accomplish these ends, this year's Honor Society has set up a printed honor scroll and has presented a banner to the homeroom ranking highest scholastically each marking period.

Members are chosen on the basis of high scholarship, leadership, character and service by members of a faculty council headed by faculty advisor, Miss Maple Percival.

NUTMEG BOYS' AND LAUREL GIRLS' STATE

Gilbert Linder, Bonnie Birks, Frederick Walther, and John Greco were chosen on the basis of service, leadership, and scholarship, to represent Milford at Nutmeg Boys' and Laurel Girls' State. They participated in a week's program at the University of Connecticut, where they learned and practiced the principles of local and state government.

WEPAWAUG

The yearbook, Wepawaug, is put together in three sections with deadlines in December, February, and March. Picture schedules must be organized and carried out, and the order of the pages must be planned. Next, pages are designed, write-ups are composed, and pictures are proportioned and cropped. One of the most difficult tasks is that of identifying the people in group pictures. Everything which is to be set in print must be typed and then proofread for errors in punctuation, grammar and spelling.

The yearbook is without a doubt an activity which demands the most in time and effort of its staff.

THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

Robert Frost
